PS-1	A healthcare worker or laboratory technician	Detect malaria parasites in blood smear images	The manual diagnosis process is slow and requires expert knowledge	Microscopic examination of blood cells must be done carefully by trained professionals	Frustrated and concerned about delays in diagnosis
PS-2	A doctor or medical staff member	Quickly identify whether a patient is infected with malaria	Traditional diagnostic methods are time-consuming and may lead to human error	Large numbers of samples must be analyzed manually	Stressed and worried about providing timely treatment
